UPDATE ON NEW BOOKSTORE SYSTEM (05-9-2C)

Director of General Services Rick Bennett opened discussion, describing the extensive process by which District and Bookstore requirements were identified to vendors, resulting in the selection of the MBS as the vendor for the new Bookstore system. Because of the features of MBS, the District netted significant savings on purchases, including inventory management solutions, point of sale solutions, accounting, online sale and web services, and customer relationship management.

District Director of Bookstore Operations Tom Bauer described the advantages of MBS, including greater opportunities for used books, with pricing specific to the SMCCCD. Inventory management features include electronic ordering, multi-store inventory management, integrated buyback and a standardized database, allowing for greater bookstore efficiency. In addition, the system provides for textbook rental, especially for early childhood education texts, and digital texts, slated for Fall of 2006.

The point-of-sale (POS) feature provides rapid, reliable and accurate transactions. The accounting feature provides flexible, Districtwide reporting, eliminating double data entry, leading to more efficient financial reporting. The web module allows for seamless integration with POS, providing for text management and student schedule integration, with student links to books from the Websmart registration module. In terms of customer relationship management, the new system features maintenance of a purchase history and rewards for purchases, targeted discount opportunities and buyback. Comprehensive training is to be provided, including hands-on, curriculum-based, on-site, user group and e-training via the Internet.
Overall, the new system will result in reduced payroll, increased bottom line, improved student services, more used textbooks, digital texts and quicker transactions. The College Bookstores are now well positioned to provide superior service for at least the next 10 years.

The Board and Chancellor Galatolo expressed their appreciation for the report and for the efforts of everyone involved in the process.
