

Gathering Student Feedback

You don't have to wait until the end of the semester to learn how students are experiencing your course(s). Get support from instructional designers in gathering feedback from students on your course climate, design, and/or facilitation. You can customize the type of feedback based on what you are curious about.

How Does It Work?

